SPRING IS IN THE AIR

We are certainly enjoying the magnificent golfing conditions Spring in Melbourne provides. The couch grass has come out of dormancy with a noticeable green taking over the course.

This growth period is the ideal time to undertake necessary greens maintenance with most venues using traditional coring methods. Here at St Andrews Beach we use a different approach and a machine called Dri-Ject.

Under the watchful eye of Turnpoint Golf, the Dri-Ject process uses high pressure water to pierce small holes into the green surface and inject valuable soil nutrients at the same time. This process is far less invasive than traditional coring machines and leaves the putting surface in tact with greens mowers being able to follow immediately after.

Ultimately this ensures the greens at St Andrews Beach are in pristine condition all year round.
